KIDS SUMMER SUNDAY FLICKS

National Museum of Australia, Visions Theatre, Sundays in January at 1.30pm, Entry is Free

On the first Sunday in December and February, and every Sunday in January, enjoy free family films linked to the Museum's exhibitions. Please note some movies may contain scenes that may be frightening for very young children.

Sun 7 Jan, 1.30–3pm: Finding Nemo (G) A young clownfish is captured by a diver on his first day of school. Visit the Between the Flags exhibition and see what other marine life you can discover there.

Sun 14 Jan, 1.30–3pm: Atlantis - The Lost Empire (PG) In 1914, a young adventurer named Milo joins an intrepid group of explorers to find the mysterious lost continent of Atlantis. Explore your way through the Between the Flags exhibition with the Kids trail booklet!

Sun 21 Jan, 1.30–3pm: Help! I'm A Fish (G) Three children are accidentally transformed into fish and have only 48 hours to find the antidote that will change them. Wander through the Between the Flags exhibition. Can you find an antidote to the bluebottle sting?

Sun 28 Jan, 1.30–3pm: The Little Mermaid (G) Ariel, the mischievous mermaid, lives in an underwater paradise but dreams of living on land. Visit the Between the Flags exhibition and imagine how Ariel would find beach culture above the sea.

Sun 4 Feb, 1.30–3pm: The Wiggles Movie (G) Step into Wiggles World and see if the Wiggles find Dorothy in time to celebrate her 5th birthday. After the movie, check out the Wiggles' colourful tops in the Eternity gallery.

NATIONAL LIBRARY SCREENINGS

National Library of Australia, Various dates, Gold Coin Donation

Donald Friend: The Prodigal Australian (1990) Thursday, January 18, 2007 6:00 pm - 7:30 pm

Film, 16mm, 90mins. This film looks at the life, work and character of enigmatic Australian artist Donald Friend (1915–1989), as told to John Olsen. Friend ran away from home during the Depression and later shared a flat with Peter Finch in Sydney's bohemian quarter. He lived overseas in London, Nigeria where he became advisor to the King of Ikerre, Italy and Ceylon. He also spent 15 years in Bali, where he was known as Tuan Raksasa (Lord Devil).

Tamu: The Story of Donald Friend Tuesday, January 23, 2007 6:00 pm - 7:00 pm

DVD, 52 mins Produced by Jane Oehr and Ian Stocks. Filmed in 1971, Tamu explores the life and work of Donald Friend in Bali. Highlights include a visit to Balinese painter Ida Bagus Rai; daily life in his Balinese household, a bargaining session with local antique sellers, cockfighting and the performance of a Topeng mask drama. Friend comments on these influences on his painting and shares his knowledge of Bali and his involvement with life on the island with wit and understanding. Introduced by Producer Jane Oehr, this promises to be a fascinating evening. Jane will remain to answer questions after the screening.

The Ballets Russes in Australia: An Avalanche of Dancing (1999) Wednesday, January 31, 2007 12:30 pm - 1:30 pm

VHS, 44mins. A documentary telling the story of the Ballets Russes tours to Australia in the 1930s. Includes interviews with Irina Baronova, Kira Abricossova Bousloff and Max Dupain.

FESTIVALS: CALLING FOR ENTRIES

OBERHAUSEN INTERNATIONAL SHORT FILM FESTIVAL

Deadline: 15th January 2007

The International Short Film Festival Oberhausen, one of the oldest and most renowned film festivals in the world, has always been flexible in dealing with political and aesthetic change, choosing its own standard of quality against which the "short idea on celluloid" is to be measured. A film isn't selected in Oberhausen simply for being well produced. A work must always be judged against its own claim of being something new - regardless of genre, production quality and budget. The decisive factor is a film's position vis-à-vis social reality, cultural differences and aesthetic innovation. In addition to the competitions (International, Children's Films, National) and special programs, the festival organises a successful market in which all submitted works are made available for individual viewing. In addition to the festival, we manage a unique short film archive and a non-commercial international distribution program. For more info:
